

SAY CITY OFFICIAL WAS CONSULTED RE: FEED MURDER

Two Telephone Operators in Street Cleaning Offices Recall Rofrano Messages.

That the murderers of Michael Gaimari, lieutenant of Thomas F. Foley, were in constant and direct communication with Michael A. Rofrano, Deputy Street Cleaning Commissioner, was the burden of testimony given yesterday in the Supreme Court by telephone operators employed in that bureau.

Joseph and Antonio La Salle, who are under sentence of twenty years each for having killed James Minott, another of the Foley political lieutenants, had testified at the trial of Gaetano Montimagno for the killing of Gaimari, that the men who had employed them had been in frequent telephonic communication with Rofrano at the Department of Street Cleaning. They said that when they called him they informed the telephone operators that either "Mr. Moore" or "Mr. Campbell" wished to speak to him.

Miss Mary Dunn and Frank J. Boland, telephone operators in the Street Cleaning Department's office, testified yesterday that many times they had received calls from "Mr. Moore" and "Mr. Campbell," who wished to speak with Rofrano.

Questioned About Calls. "Were you ever directed by Mr. Rofrano to say that he was not in when either Mr. Moore or Mr. Campbell asked for him?" asked counsel.

"Yes," said Miss Dunn. "We got a stop order from Mr. Rofrano to stop the stop order that he was not in."

"When did you get that order?" "I do not remember."

"Was it before or after January?" "I can't tell; it was two, three, four or five months ago."

Efforts to pin Miss Dunn's memory down to the date failed.

Boland's memory served him no better. He recalled, he testified, that a "Mr. Moore" had called many times for Rofrano and that Rofrano had put in a "stop order," saying that the telephone operators were to inform "Mr. Moore" and "Mr. Campbell" that he was not in.

"When did you get that order?" "I do not remember."

"Was it before or after January?" "I can't tell; it was two, three, four or five months ago."

Efforts to pin Miss Dunn's memory down to the date failed.

Boland's memory served him no better. He recalled, he testified, that a "Mr. Moore" had called many times for Rofrano and that Rofrano had put in a "stop order," saying that the telephone operators were to inform "Mr. Moore" and "Mr. Campbell" that he was not in.

"When did you get that order?" "I do not remember."

"Was it before or after January?" "I can't tell; it was two, three, four or five months ago."

Efforts to pin Miss Dunn's memory down to the date failed.

Boland's memory served him no better. He recalled, he testified, that a "Mr. Moore" had called many times for Rofrano and that Rofrano had put in a "stop order," saying that the telephone operators were to inform "Mr. Moore" and "Mr. Campbell" that he was not in.

"When did you get that order?" "I do not remember."

"Was it before or after January?" "I can't tell; it was two, three, four or five months ago."

Efforts to pin Miss Dunn's memory down to the date failed.

Boland's memory served him no better. He recalled, he testified, that a "Mr. Moore" had called many times for Rofrano and that Rofrano had put in a "stop order," saying that the telephone operators were to inform "Mr. Moore" and "Mr. Campbell" that he was not in.

"When did you get that order?" "I do not remember."

"Was it before or after January?" "I can't tell; it was two, three, four or five months ago."

Efforts to pin Miss Dunn's memory down to the date failed.

Boland's memory served him no better. He recalled, he testified, that a "Mr. Moore" had called many times for Rofrano and that Rofrano had put in a "stop order," saying that the telephone operators were to inform "Mr. Moore" and "Mr. Campbell" that he was not in.

"When did you get that order?" "I do not remember."

"Was it before or after January?" "I can't tell; it was two, three, four or five months ago."

Efforts to pin Miss Dunn's memory down to the date failed.

Boland's memory served him no better. He recalled, he testified, that a "Mr. Moore" had called many times for Rofrano and that Rofrano had put in a "stop order," saying that the telephone operators were to inform "Mr. Moore" and "Mr. Campbell" that he was not in.

"When did you get that order?" "I do not remember."

"Was it before or after January?" "I can't tell; it was two, three, four or five months ago."

Efforts to pin Miss Dunn's memory down to the date failed.

Boland's memory served him no better. He recalled, he testified, that a "Mr. Moore" had called many times for Rofrano and that Rofrano had put in a "stop order," saying that the telephone operators were to inform "Mr. Moore" and "Mr. Campbell" that he was not in.

"When did you get that order?" "I do not remember."

"Was it before or after January?" "I can't tell; it was two, three, four or five months ago."

Efforts to pin Miss Dunn's memory down to the date failed.

Boland's memory served him no better. He recalled, he testified, that a "Mr. Moore" had called many times for Rofrano and that Rofrano had put in a "stop order," saying that the telephone operators were to inform "Mr. Moore" and "Mr. Campbell" that he was not in.

"When did you get that order?" "I do not remember."

HERALD NEWS PHOTOGRAPH CONTEST.

CATCHING a shark on board the United States naval barge No. 1. The barge is an auxiliary to the U. S. S. Paducah, now on an expedition known as the Cape Cruz-Casilda survey. The coast survey to which it is attached is one of the least known branches of the service.

The photograph was taken by Edward Fitz Snyder, yeoman, first class, United States Navy, and was selected from pictures entered in the Herald contest.

For each picture published the Herald pays $3. At the end of each week a prize of $5 is awarded for the best photograph used in the preceding seven days.

SWEAR REVENGE AS 'ITALY BOSS' DIES

Giosue Gallucci Succumbs to Assassins' Bullets, and War of Vengeance Is Feared.

Giosue Gallucci, the "boss" of "Little Italy," concerning whom at least ten and perhaps twenty murders have been committed in the last eight years, died last night in Bellevue Hospital of wounds inflicted by three paid assassins a few nights ago. This fact, according to the police, presages a war of vengeance among the foreign residents of Harlem.

Luca Gallucci, his young son who was shot at the same time and who died Wednesday, was buried yesterday and his funeral was the largest ever seen in Harlem. There were 800 carriages, all filled with mourners, and it was said that the last carriage had not left the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, in East 118th street, when the hearse was nearing the cemetery.

When the death of Giosue Gallucci, worth $1,000,000 or more, was announced in the section last night, his agents sent out orders for every carriage to be had in Manhattan and the Bronx for the funeral, which probably will be on Monday. It was said that between two and three and fifteen hundred carriages would be employed.

Of the five thousand persons who passed through the Gallucci home at No. 318 East 118th street in the last two days it was reported by the mother of the young man last night that fully three hundred had stretched themselves across the coffin and had taken a solemn oath to avenge his murder.

Mrs. Gallucci and her nearest relatives occupied the leading carriages in the cortege yesterday. There were twenty-two carriages filled with flowers. The coffin cost $500. Harlem never had seen such a funeral and it was said that the funeral of the father will far surpass it.

The district has been filled with detectives since the assassination, expecting other murders. Last night they said they had learned that the murderers of Gallucci and his son had been paid $200 to commit the crime.

Outside of the ten bodyguards of Gallucci, who had been murdered while protecting him in the last eight years, the police mentioned a few other murders. Nicolo Del Gaudio shot Gallucci six times the year ago because he could not get permission to operate a lottery. It was reported that no one could operate a lottery, a poolroom or a saloon without Gallucci's permission, although he had denied that. Del Gaudio fled, but last October he returned to First avenue and 109th street and was killed. Two weeks later a woman shot at Gallucci three times and missed him. Two months later her husband was killed as he walked through Second avenue.

A week before he was shot Gallucci said that he had refused to purchase $300 worth of tickets for a "racket" given for the benefit of Joseph Nazarro, known in the district as "Joe Chuck." Nazarro and Gallucci and the latter's nephew, John Russomanno, had been arrested for carrying pistols, and Gallucci and his nephew obtained bail of $10,000. Nazarro had to stay in jail, and finally was sentenced to prison for ten months. He was released only a few weeks ago and his friends gave the "racket" for his benefit.

Gallucci, who said he expected trouble, always denied that he had killed a man in Sicily just before coming to this country twenty years ago.

Body Execution Threatens D. J. Sully. Daniel J. Sully, once widely known court broker, must risk arrest unless he settles a judgment for $17,300 held by Mrs. Grace W. Savage, who invested with him, according to a decision by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court yesterday.

Sully recently obtained an order preventing Mrs. Savage from executing a body attachment. The court set the order aside.

MR. R. E. BONAR DIES OF APOPLEXY

Had Been Engaged in the Manufacture of Straw Hats for Forty Years.

Mr. Ronald E. Bonar, president of the Bonar, Phelps Company, straw hat manufacturers, in East Tenth street, died suddenly of apoplexy last night in his apartment at No. 9 East Tenth street. Mr. Bonar was sixty-three years old and was a nephew of Mr. Horatio Bonar, Scotch hymn writer.

Born in New York city, Mr. Bonar was a son of the late Mr. Thomas Bonar, one-time art editor of the New York Herald. He had been engaged in the hat manufacturing business for forty years. Mr. Bonar formerly was a member of the Manhattan Club and the New York Athletic Club.

At the time of his death Mr. Bonar was a member of Kane Lodge, F. and A. M. He is survived by his wife and an adopted son, Dr. Leon Fraser, lecturer on public law at Columbia University.

CAPTAIN EDWARDS, OLD WHALER, DIES

Was Engaged in the Whaling Business for Many Years.

Captain Edwards was known to every person in Amagansett, and to-morrow a general assemblage of the populace will attend the funeral service.

ANNOUNCE DEATH OF MR. VANDERBILT

Family Gives Up Hope and Causes Notice To Be Published in the Herald.

That all hope of Mr. Vanderbilt having survived the destruction of the Lusitania, blown up by the Germans on May 7, has been abandoned, is shown by the following death notice which was sent by a member of the family for publication in the Herald.

VANDERBILT.—On Friday, May 7, 1915, at sea, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, son of Alice Gwynne and the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, in the 83rd year of his age. Notice of services hereafter.

The settlement of his large estate will now no doubt begin at once and it is expected that next week the will will be offered for probate.

The proof of death from the point of view of the law would be considered as adequate in view of the fact that his presence on board the Lusitania could be shown by the testimony of witnesses and that he was not among the survivors.

It is expected that a memorial service will be held later in this city.

Flags at Half Staff in Newport in Memory of Mr. Vanderbilt.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.] NEWPORT, R. I., Friday.—Notice was received here to-day from Mr. Reginald C. Vanderbilt announcing the death of his brother, the late Alfred G. Vanderbilt, at sea on May 7. The local newspapers to-morrow will publish the death notice sent, with an announcement of services to follow. Flags at the Newport Reading Room, of which Mr. Vanderbilt was a member at the Y. M. C. A. building, which he gave in memory of his father, at the New York Yacht Club, Newport, and at the other places probably, will be placed at half staff for the day.

MR. S. H. MILLIKEN. Mr. Samuel Hunter Milliken, for the last fifteen years president of the Pioneer Iron Works, in Brooklyn, died at his home, No. 117 Prospect Park west, of a complication of diseases. Mr. Milliken was born in this city seventy-three years ago and for fifty years had been connected with the Pioneer Iron Works. He was a veteran of the civil war, having served in a regiment of New York volunteers. Mr. Milliken was a member of the Marine Corps, of the Society of Old Brooklynites and of the Crescent Club. His wife, three sons and a daughter survive him.

MR. FRANKLIN C. NORTON. Mr. Franklin C. Norton, a member of an old Long Island family and a material factor in the development of the Rockaways, died at his home in Westchester, N. Y., at 230 Hancock street, Brooklyn, of pneumonia. He was a grandson of Governor Clinton, a former resident of Jamaica, and a son of Samuel R. Norton, an early settler of Far Rockaway. Mr. Norton's wife and six children survive him.

MRS. JULIA MORRIS WOODBERRY. Mrs. Julia Morris Woodberry, widow of J. Thornblyke Woodberry and daughter of the late Judge Edmund James Porter, died Thursday of a complication of diseases at her home, No. 10 Neptune place, New Rochelle, N. Y., on her mother's side. Mrs. Woodberry was a descendant of Lewis Morris, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. She was seventy years old.

Mrs. Lucinda Frances Chapman, widow of William E. Chapman, formerly a member of the firm of Merritt & Chapman, died on Thursday at her home, No. 230 Hancock street, Brooklyn, of pneumonia. Mrs. Chapman was seventy-three years old and lived for many years in the East. Her husband was a brother, Seligman A. Myers, of No. 312 West 109th street.

Mrs. Anna M. Ballard, who died May 2, leaving more than $200,000, named her four sons as executors and divided her estate among them, two daughters and the children of a deceased son.

Mrs. Mary B. Couch, widow of Joseph J. Couch, formerly past grand master of Masonic lodges of New York State and special deputy collector of the County Court, died yesterday at her home, No. 262 Flatbush avenue, Brooklyn. She was eighty-seven years old.

Mrs. Harriet Elizabeth Egbert is dead at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Arrowsmith, No. 58 Evergreen place, East Hackettstown, N. J., of a complication of diseases. She was eighty-six years old. Three daughters, one son and a twin sister, Mrs. George W. Agnew of Hackettstown, N. J., survive her. Her husband was William V. Egbert, hardware dealer, of Newark, N. J.

The Rev. Henry C. Mayer, pastor of St. Barnabas' Church, of Philadelphia and son-in-law of the late Bishop William Bacon Stevens, of the Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania, died in Philadelphia yesterday. The Rev. Mr. Mayer had served as a missionary in Mexico and Cuba. He was born in New York and was seventy-two years old.

Mr. Joseph P. Osborne, prominent as a lawyer in Newark, N. J., died yesterday at his home, No. 287 Ridge street. For many years he was collector of the City of Newark, N. J., and was later graduated from the Columbia Law School. His wife and one daughter survive him.

Mr. John Thompson, son of J. W. Thompson, prominent as a business man in Port Huron, Mich., died in Harper Hospital, Detroit, Mich., yesterday, of spinal meningitis. His wife, Mrs. John, Captain Thaw, of Pittsburgh, was with him when he died. Interment will be in Port Huron.

Miss Mabel Holmes Dies at Sea. The death of Miss Mabel Holmes, seventeen years old, of Red Bank, N. J., was reported at Quarantine Station by the captain of the Madison, of the Old Dominion line, yesterday. Miss Holmes died at sea at half-past seven o'clock yesterday when the Madison was nearing this port. The body was taken ashore at Quarantine.

SMALL REQUESTS TO SONS. Henry C. Becker Gives Reasons in Each Case for Mesgr Legacies. Three sons of Henry C. Becker, who died on May 12, in his home, No. 1,096 Bushwick avenue, Brooklyn, leaving an estate of $5,000, are cut off with small amounts by his will, which was filed yesterday.

Alfred E. Becker receives $5, "because he had not treated his father with proper respect during the last ten years." Frederick A. Becker gets $100 "because he is prosperous," and a third son, Henry J. Becker, gets $25 "because he was a source of great expense to his father."

Start to Settle Estates of Three Lusitania Victims

Families of H. B. Baldwin, M. M. Schwarz and H. A. Myers Begin Proceedings—Mr. Baldwin Left All to Wife, Who Also Perished.

BODIES NOT FOUND, BUT DEATHS ARE CERTAIN

Families of three of the victims of the Lusitania disaster began settlement of their estates in the Surrogate's Court yesterday. The wills of Harry B. Baldwin and Max M. Schwarz were offered for probate. A petition for letters of administration was filed in the estate of Herman A. Myers. Mr. Baldwin was a member of Austin Baldwin & Co., freight contractors. Mr. Schwarz was head of Max M. Schwarz & Co., cloak manufacturers, of No. 137 Madison avenue.

An affidavit submitted by Arthur D. Wolf, brother-in-law of Mr. Schwarz, contains cable messages from Bertram Jenkins his friend, who was on board the Lusitania and later searched for Mr. Schwarz's body. A cable message from London, May 13, to Mr. Wolf from Mr. Jenkins, said: "Have viewed all bodies recovered so far. Mr. Schwarz not among them. Saw him on deck helping ladies into boats. Am still in communication with Cunard company."

A cable message from Mr. Jenkins, in London, May 16, to Miss Schwarz, daughter of the decedent, of No. 137 Riverside Drive, said: "The last I saw of your dear father, as I was helping lady into boat which collapsed, throwing me into water. He was walking along deck shouting 'Ladies first.' Cunard company, to date, regretfully inform me body not yet recovered. You have my heartfelt sympathy in your great affliction."

Mr. Schwarz left an estate, said to be valued at more than $50,000, in trust for his three daughters, each to receive one-third of the income until she is twenty-one, when she will receive one-third of the principal. They are the Misses Irene, Dorothy and Minna Schwarz, all of No. 137 Riverside Drive. With Mr. Wolf and his wife, Mrs. Rebecca Wolf, the three children said goodbye to Mr. Schwarz at the pier May 1, when the Lusitania left this port.

Harry B. Baldwin and his wife, Mrs. Mary M. Baldwin, both were lost in the Lusitania disaster. Joseph C. Baldwin, Jr., brother of Bedford N. J., who, with his wife, was named as an executor of Mr. Baldwin's will, filed the will which left all to Mrs. Baldwin. Inquiries made of Ambassador Page, the Cunard company representative of Austin, Baldwin & Co. in England failed to disclose any trace of either of the bodies.

The estate, which is estimated at no less than $250,000 in personal property, will be divided among the relatives under the laws governing intestacy. They are William M. Baldwin, brother, of Garden City, L. I.; Charles Lansing Baldwin, of No. 146 West Fifty-eighth street, and Joseph C. Baldwin, Jr.

Mrs. Cherris A. Myers, of No. 605 West 113th street, wife of Herman A. Myers, who was lost on board the Lusitania, filed a petition asking for letters of administration in his estate, which she estimated at not more than $15,000 in personal property and no realty in this State. Mrs. Myers said she said "Goodbye" to her husband on board the Lusitania May 1, just before the vessel left her pier. Inquiries at all available sources have failed to disclose the trace of the body. The wife believes Mr. Myers left no will. Mr. Myers left a mother, four sisters and a brother, Seligman A. Myers, of No. 312 West 109th street.

Mrs. Anna M. Ballard, who died May 2, leaving more than $200,000, named her four sons as executors and divided her estate among them, two daughters and the children of a deceased son.

Mrs. Mary B. Couch, widow of Joseph J. Couch, formerly past grand master of Masonic lodges of New York State and special deputy collector of the County Court, died yesterday at her home, No. 262 Flatbush avenue, Brooklyn. She was eighty-seven years old.

Mrs. Harriet Elizabeth Egbert is dead at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Arrowsmith, No. 58 Evergreen place, East Hackettstown, N. J., of a complication of diseases. She was eighty-six years old. Three daughters, one son and a twin sister, Mrs. George W. Agnew of Hackettstown, N. J., survive her. Her husband was William V. Egbert, hardware dealer, of Newark, N. J.

The Rev. Henry C. Mayer, pastor of St. Barnabas' Church, of Philadelphia and son-in-law of the late Bishop William Bacon Stevens, of the Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania, died in Philadelphia yesterday. The Rev. Mr. Mayer had served as a missionary in Mexico and Cuba. He was born in New York and was seventy-two years old.

Mr. Joseph P. Osborne, prominent as a lawyer in Newark, N. J., died yesterday at his home, No. 287 Ridge street. For many years he was collector of the City of Newark, N. J., and was later graduated from the Columbia Law School. His wife and one daughter survive him.

Mr. John Thompson, son of J. W. Thompson, prominent as a business man in Port Huron, Mich., died in Harper Hospital, Detroit, Mich., yesterday, of spinal meningitis. His wife, Mrs. John, Captain Thaw, of Pittsburgh, was with him when he died. Interment will be in Port Huron.

Miss Mabel Holmes Dies at Sea. The death of Miss Mabel Holmes, seventeen years old, of Red Bank, N. J., was reported at Quarantine Station by the captain of the Madison, of the Old Dominion line, yesterday. Miss Holmes died at sea at half-past seven o'clock yesterday when the Madison was nearing this port. The body was taken ashore at Quarantine.

SMALL REQUESTS TO SONS. Henry C. Becker Gives Reasons in Each Case for Mesgr Legacies. Three sons of Henry C. Becker, who died on May 12, in his home, No. 1,096 Bushwick avenue, Brooklyn, leaving an estate of $5,000, are cut off with small amounts by his will, which was filed yesterday.

Alfred E. Becker receives $5, "because he had not treated his father with proper respect during the last ten years." Frederick A. Becker gets $100 "because he is prosperous," and a third son, Henry J. Becker, gets $25 "because he was a source of great expense to his father."

IN CHICAGO it is the ROTOGRAVURE SECTION of the CHICAGO SUNDAY HERALD that is causing all the talk and concentrating each week the admiring attention of 260,000 of the best people of

The Great Central Market

It is the best medium by which general advertisers can place their commodities before the people of the second largest city in the country.

The people of Chicago are responsive to attractive and convincing advertising. They have not felt the business depression that has been so retarding a factor in Eastern retail trade.

They want the best and are willing to pay for what they want. The advertising space for sale each week in the is limited and the best positions will be given to the first orders.

Rotogravure Process of the Chicago Sunday Herald

Copy will be taken at the home office up to within nine days of the date of publication.

Seven columns to a page, columns 800 agate lines in length, 12 1/2 ems in width.

For rates apply to the Eastern representative,

F. H. TOBEY, 200 Fifth Ave., New York City.

TEACHES 53 YEARS, DIES AT 92 AND LEAVES ONLY $2,000

NATHAN P. BEERS, for fifty-three years principal of old Grammar School No. 15, in Fifth street, who died February 18, in his ninety-second year, left an estate of not more than $2,000, according to a petition filed yesterday with his will.

Dr. H. W. Schwartz receives "my reading chair," three second cousins, the nearest relatives, all personal effects, and the residue is left to Mrs. Louise de Luna, "my faithful housekeeper."

Mr. Beers had as pupils G. W. Goethals, Ogden Mills, Stephen S. Wise, Abraham Gruber, Leonard A. Giegerich and Joseph E. Newburger.

Another brother, George Tunia Moore, receives the use of $25,000.

Move in Settling McLaughlin Estate. The first move in settlement of the estate of Hugh McLaughlin was made yesterday, when William C. Courtney, son-in-law of the political leader, obtained permission from Surrogate Ketcham, in Brooklyn, to withdraw from the People's Trust Company $300,000 in cash and $494,500 in securities. One claim has not been settled, and Mr. Courtney was directed to file a bond of $50,000.

CLOTHING. Harry B. Baldwin and his wife, Mrs. Mary M. Baldwin, both were lost in the Lusitania disaster. Joseph C. Baldwin, Jr., brother of Bedford N. J., who, with his wife, was named as an executor of Mr. Baldwin's will, filed the will which left all to Mrs. Baldwin. Inquiries made of Ambassador Page, the Cunard company representative of Austin, Baldwin & Co. in England failed to disclose any trace of either of the bodies.

The estate, which is estimated at no less than $250,000 in personal property, will be divided among the relatives under the laws governing intestacy. They are William M. Baldwin, brother, of Garden City, L. I.; Charles Lansing Baldwin, of No. 146 West Fifty-eighth street, and Joseph C. Baldwin, Jr.

Mrs. Cherris A. Myers, of No. 605 West 113th street, wife of Herman A. Myers, who was lost on board the Lusitania, filed a petition asking for letters of administration in his estate, which she estimated at not more than $15,000 in personal property and no realty in this State. Mrs. Myers said she said "Goodbye" to her husband on board the Lusitania May 1, just before the vessel left her pier. Inquiries at all available sources have failed to disclose the trace of the body. The wife believes Mr. Myers left no will. Mr. Myers left a mother, four sisters and a brother, Seligman A. Myers, of No. 312 West 109th street.

Mrs. Anna M. Ballard, who died May 2, leaving more than $200,000, named her four sons as executors and divided her estate among them, two daughters and the children of a deceased son.

Mrs. Mary B. Couch, widow of Joseph J. Couch, formerly past grand master of Masonic lodges of New York State and special deputy collector of the County Court, died yesterday at her home, No. 262 Flatbush avenue, Brooklyn. She was eighty-seven years old.

Mrs. Harriet Elizabeth Egbert is dead at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Arrowsmith, No. 58 Evergreen place, East Hackettstown, N. J., of a complication of diseases. She was eighty-six years old. Three daughters, one son and a twin sister, Mrs. George W. Agnew of Hackettstown, N. J., survive her. Her husband was William V. Egbert, hardware dealer, of Newark, N. J.

The Rev. Henry C. Mayer, pastor of St. Barnabas' Church, of Philadelphia and son-in-law of the late Bishop William Bacon Stevens, of the Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania, died in Philadelphia yesterday. The Rev. Mr. Mayer had served as a missionary in Mexico and Cuba. He was born in New York and was seventy-two years old.

Mr. Joseph P. Osborne, prominent as a lawyer in Newark, N. J., died yesterday at his home, No. 287 Ridge street. For many years he was collector of the City of Newark, N. J., and was later graduated from the Columbia Law School. His wife and one daughter survive him.

Mr. John Thompson, son of J. W. Thompson, prominent as a business man in Port Huron, Mich., died in Harper Hospital, Detroit, Mich., yesterday, of spinal meningitis. His wife, Mrs. John, Captain Thaw, of Pittsburgh, was with him when he died. Interment will be in Port Huron.

Miss Mabel Holmes Dies at Sea. The death of Miss Mabel Holmes, seventeen years old, of Red Bank, N. J., was reported at Quarantine Station by the captain of the Madison, of the Old Dominion line, yesterday. Miss Holmes died at sea at half-past seven o'clock yesterday when the Madison was nearing this port. The body was taken ashore at Quarantine.

SMALL REQUESTS TO SONS. Henry C. Becker Gives Reasons in Each Case for Mesgr Legacies. Three sons of Henry C. Becker, who died on May 12, in his home, No. 1,096 Bushwick avenue, Brooklyn, leaving an estate of $5,000, are cut off with small amounts by his will, which was filed yesterday.

Alfred E. Becker receives $5, "because he had not treated his father with proper respect during the last ten years." Frederick A. Becker gets $100 "because he is prosperous," and a third son, Henry J. Becker, gets $25 "because he was a source of great expense to his father."

$2,790,420 LEFT BY CHARLES A. MOORE

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.] GREENWICH, Conn., Friday.—Charles A. Moore, of Manning, Maxwell & Moore, New York, left an estate of $2,790,420, as shown by the inventory filed here to-day.

Mrs. Mary C. Moore, the widow, receives the use of the bulk of the estate during her lifetime. At her death the property is to be divided for the testator's children, Mrs. Mary Elsie Torlonia, wife of the Duke Torlonia, of Rome, Italy; Eugene Maxwell Moore, of No. 178 East Seventieth street, New York; Mrs. Jessie Campbell Moore Chester and Charles A. Moore, of Greenwich.

St. John's Guild, of New York, gets

Parlor Bedroom & Bath Special Attractive Rates $15.00 Per Week. Large Single Rooms & Bath $12.00 Per Week. All Modern Conveniences REISENWEBER'S Columbus Circle and 58th Street.

MONTICELLO 35-37 WEST 64th St. A Modern Fireproof Hotel. Best location. Central. Subways. Catering for a Quiet Family Patron. Room, up to 10, $12.50 per Day. Double Room, $22.50 per Day. Suite, $35.00 per Day. 2-Room Suite, $45.00 per Day. 3-Room Suite, $55.00 per Day. 4-Room Suite, $65.00 per Day. 5-Room Suite, $75.00 per Day. 6-Room Suite, $85.00 per Day. 7-Room Suite, $95.00 per Day. 8-Room Suite, $105.00 per Day. 9-Room Suite, $115.00 per Day. 10-Room Suite, $125.00 per Day. 11-Room Suite, $135.00 per Day. 12-Room Suite, $145.00 per Day. 13-Room Suite, $155.00 per Day. 14-Room Suite, $165.00 per Day. 15-Room Suite, $175.00 per Day. 16-Room Suite, $185.0